

Researchers at the University of Nottingham are looking for participants with OCD who live in the UK and are aged 12 years old or older to take part in a study investigating the effects of median nerve stimulation at the wrist on OCD symptoms. The research team have previously shown the effectiveness of this technique in reducing the urge to tic in Tourette syndrome. There is financial support available for those needing to travel.

Please contact Mairi Houlgreave for details: lpymh2@nottingham.ac.uk

University of Nottingham
UK | CHINA | MALAYSIA