

Have you got lived experience of hoarding?

If so, you are invited to take part in an ethics-approved study with researchers at Anglia Ruskin University:

- The project aims to create teaching resources for health and social care students about how to support people who experience hoarding behaviours.
- We would like to develop these resources together with you.
- We would also like to learn about your experiences working with us to co-produce the teaching materials.

If you are interested to hear more, please get in touch:

Vanessa Ferguson 0845 196 5520

vf5@aru.ac.uk

Photo by Priscilla Du Preez on Unsplash