

PARTICIPANTS NEEDED

Theory of Mind in Autism and OCD:

We are looking for autistic adults who have experiences of OCD

This research looks to explore how autistic adults who also experience obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD) understand other people and how they make sense of social experiences. If you feel you fit the criteria below and would like to participate you will be invited to an online interview where we will ask you to speak openly about some personal experiences.

Who can participate

- Adults aged 18 or over.
- Self-identify as autistic and as having OCD.
- Able to provide informed consent and participate in a remote interview.

What is involved

- Attend a short screening call to determine if you meet inclusion criteria
- attend a 60-90 minute interview to talk about some specific experiences
- Receive a £20 voucher as a thank you for participating

Join our study by emailing:

MeislKD@cardiff.ac.uk